PICKLER'S ELOQUENT TRIBUTE.

Charles L. Carter Died a Martyr in Defense of His Country.

HE WAS AMERICAN IN ANCESTRY.

The Shedding of His Blood Will Intensify the Love of Government of the People, By the People, and For the People Throughout the whole World.

On the 23d ult. Hon. John A. Pickler, Representative from South Dakota, paid a tribute to the memory of the late Charles L. Carter.

CHARLES L. CARTER.

His remarks appear in the Congressional Record and are as follows:

MR. CHAIRMAN:—I desire to sincerely join the great voice of the American people in tribute of respect to the memory of the fallen patriot of Hawaii, Charles L. Carter.

Truly the adage that death loves a shining mark is conspicuously exemplified in its claim to this defender of the new Republic of the Islands of the Pacific Ocean.

At the annual banquet of the resident alumni of the Ann Arbor (Mich.) University in this capital city early in the year 1893, at Willard's Hotel, I had the pleasure of meeting this young and promising statesman.

He was at the time sojourning in Washington, one of the Commissioners from Hawaii seeking the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States, and was called upon at this banquet to address the former students of their common alma mater.

His first words impressed and won the hearts of all present.

He said: "Fellow students, and I hope soon to say fellow-citizens."

He was mainly in bearing, of fine appearance, frank, honest, and winning in address.

As a speaker he was earnest, energetic, pleasing, and eloquent.

He briefly and with strong conviction portrayed the situation and surroundings in Hawaii, their love of republican institutions, their admiration of the Government of the United States, their reverence for our flag, and their hopes of becoming a part of this great nation in the near future.

We were all for annexation before he finished his short but eloquent address.

Denied annexation, the great boon for which he hoped, he afterwards participated in the establishment of a republic for his beloved country, and on the night of the 6th day of the present month, January, 1895, he gave up his life in its defense. He was last summer elected a member of the constitutional convention and participated in the doing of that convention in formulating a constitution for the Republic.

At the first election under the constitution, last November, he was elected a member of the House of Representatives.

Charles L. Carter died a martyr in defense of a republican form of government. He was as thoroughly American in principle as is any citizen of this great Republic.

He was as loyal to the freedom of a Republic as were the founders of our own Government.

He was as ardent a lover of liberty as was Patrick Henry, and as courageous in its defense as was George Washington.

The shedding of his blood will intensify the love of government of the people by the people and for the people throughout the civilized world.

He was American in ancestry, American in education, American in choice of form of government, American in principle, and he died as true an American at heart as ever fell upon a field of battle. He loved the Stars and Stripes, and hoped to see our flag the banner of his country. I trust his hope may become a reality. His patriotic death will ever be an inspiration to all who battle for liberty against oppression and wrong.

He died a hero in defense of home and country; he fell a martyr in a glorious cause.

He was of the leadership of as brave, courageous and successful band of patriots as ever rescued a country from a despot's rule.

His death adds increased lustre to the courage, bravery and statesmanship of the founders of the Hawaiian Republic. His sacrifice for the cause of liberty will animate all who strive for freedom in the years to come.

His virtues will be extolled in poetry and song; canvas and marble will commemorate his deeds, and time will add glory to his illustrious name. Every liberty-loving American citizen, from Boston Harbor to the Golden Gate, from the Northern lakes to the Southern gulf, and especially those of the same alma mater, will ever cherish the memory of this distinguished martyr to Hawaiian independence and his patriotic devotion to country. And the heart of this great people will go out in genuine and tender sympathy to his sorrowing widow and fatherless children in this hour of their great trial.

How sleep the brave, who sink to rest By all their country's wishes blest! When Spring, with dewy fingers cold, Returns to deck their hallow'd mold, She there shall dress a sweeter sod Than Fancy's feet have ever trod. By fair hands their knell is rung, By forms unseen their dirge is sung; There Honor comes, a pilgrim gray, To bless the turf that wraps their clay; And Freedom shall awhile repair, To dwell, a weeping hermit, there.

BUT IT WASN'T TRUE.

A Startling Rumor Turns out to be a Fake.

A startling rumor was going the rounds yesterday afternoon to the effect that the Government was about to ask for British protection. Minister Willis' attitude was the reason given for this radical step. It was stated that the representative of the United States had made unreasonable demands on this Government when he called on Minister Hatch on Monday.

A Government official was seen last night in regard to the matter and he stated that there was absolutely no truth in the rumor. He said that Minister Willis had not made any demands; he had simply made a request in regard to some political prisoners who claim the protection of the United States.

A BOARD OF ARBITRATION.

Labor Commission Deals With Strike Problem.

Mr. Armstrong and Mr. Severance Will Go to Kona and Hilo to Obtain Statistics.

The Labor Commission held a meeting last evening and disposed of much of the unfinished business which has piled up during the cessation caused by the recent political troubles. Resolutions were passed authorizing Mr. Armstrong to visit the coffee districts of Kona to investigate the labor conditions among the plantations. At the same time Mr. Severance will go to Hilo to investigate matters on the sugar plantations. They will probably leave next week, and, after two weeks' tour, meet in Hilo to compare notes and compile statistics.

Further discussion of a board of arbitration to settle differences among the plantation laborers and their employers, resulted in a scheme to appoint a board of three members—the planters, Councils and Government, each to select a member. This board is proposed with the idea of getting at a solution of the strike problem. Should differences arise on the plantations, the workmen will be obliged to place the matter before the board of arbitration before declaring a strike. A penalty is to be imposed in the event of laborers taking action before the board has been apprised of the matter.

MARKHAM TELLS HIS STORY.

He and Wilcox Took a Friendly Walk on the Beach.

NOT AWARE OF THE UPRISING.

He Spent the Day With Henry Bertelmann and Sat Down to Dinner With Robert Wilcox—He Explained to a Native How to Handle a Gun.

The Military Commission opened its session yesterday at the usual hour. Recorder Jones read the minutes of Monday's meeting.

The case against George Markham was continued. Captain Hookano was the first witness called. Know George Markham; saw him on day of fight on Beretania street as I was coming in with Ross from Mollili; he was near corner of Punahou street; called out to him as I passed; he was coming toward town
